

Chef Eric Sculler

Chef Eric is a native of the Brittany area of western France. He began his culinary journey at the Hotel School Chaptal in Quimper, France at the age of 16. Chef Eric worked in several hotel restaurants before completing his studies. A passion for travel and resorts led to positions as Executive Chef at twelve Club Med Resorts, including Switzerland, Greece, Israel, Mexico and the United States. He was 21 years old the youngest chef of Club Med's 120 + hotels.

Eric was the chef of the Cocolaba Plantation Resort on the Island of Anguilla (closed after hurricane later replaced by the Viceroy) in the British West Indies. Chef Eric traveled to Las Vegas. He would work first for popular French restaurateur Georges La Forge at the Savoia restaurant. Chef Eric was recruited by Bally's in 1990, as assistant to Austrian Chef Werner Zefferer. At Bally's, Sculler ran the award-winning Sterling Brunch, which is consistently recognized among the top 3 brunches in the nation. During the period of 1992-1996, Chef Eric also taught weekly cooking classes in French/Gourmet cuisine at Bally's. Chef Eric was offered the pre-opening and opening position for the Paris Hotel and Casino Las Vegas. Working with the architects in design of the 28 kitchens, menu planning, hiring close to 750 chefs and being the French liaison with the mayor of the city of Paris in exchange of keys to the city.

Traveling continued within the United States to Georgia, Colorado, and Beverly Hills Hotel. In 2005 Eric took the position of pre-opening/opening Executive Chef for the Ritz Carlton in the Cayman Islands 5 star 5 diamond resorts. Working along side with Eric Ripert, a famous 3 star Michelin chef, within the restaurant Blue. Following a 3 year contract, Eric went to the biggest Cancun hotel, the Fiesta Americana Grand Coral Beach, 5 star 5 diamond where he completed a 2 year contract. Following this experience Chef Eric went back to Las Vegas for a couple of years. Recently Chef Eric spent a year in the Caribbean, where he was the Corporate Chef for Elite Resorts in charge of 9 hotels.

Chef Eric is now living in the Dallas area with his wife and nearby to his daughter.